

Dear friends,

Politics means, first of all, to listen to people and to put their ideas to work. Through this virtual instrument, I will try get in touch with your opinions, your suggestions, with things that make you discontent, and to include them in actions that should answer them, solve them, make you feel better. I believe MEPs should make heard the representatives of their constituencies, this should be their major concern. This is why I hope to have a real dialogue with you. I intend to make available for you useful information about the activities of the European institutions and about my daily work at the European Parliament. I am waiting with great interest your contributions and I sincerely hope to put them to the right use.

Friendly yours,      Marian Jean Marinescu
